Six-Year-Old Son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Barry, of the County, Injured When Horse Falls Back And Dies in a Short Time.

Stanley Barry, bright little six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Barry, who live on the Pleasant Ridge pike, died at the home of the parents at about 8 o'clock Tuesday evening of injuries received when a horse crushed his little body.

The little boy with a brother were riding horseback across the fields at the Barry farm Tuesday afternoon about 5 o'clock and in going up the side of a rather steep ravine, the horse fell backwards falling on both of his riders. The older brother was not seriously injured but little Stanley was crushed badly. Physicians were called but the little fellow's injuries were internal and he died at about 8 o'clock.

The little fellow's funeral will be held at 10 o'clock Thursday morning from the residence and burial will be made in St. Patrick's cemetery at Washington.

SURRENDERS HIMSELF.

The Fleming Gazette says: Obe Riden, from the edge of Lewis county who is under indictment here for selling liquor, came in last week and gave himself up, with the understanding that he will be given a fine of $300, and thirty days in jail. This, however, is to be confirmed by the court before it is carried out. Riden then gave bond to appear here when circuit court convenes. The trouble for which Riden is wanted, it will be remembered, consists of an attempt to deliver liquor to a party of young men near Wallingford some weeks ago when Officer Hiram Jackson surprised the bunch and attempted to arrest Riden who escaped after resisting the officer, who was single handed.

TRIES TO BREAK INTO JAIL THROUGH DRUNK

Prosecutor and Court Have Hard Nut To Crack In Effort to Keep Man Out of the Bastille.

The usual order was completely reversed in City Court Wednesday morning when City Prosecutor Donald Wood and Judge Harry C. Curran had a big job on their hands to keep out of jail a young man who had the day previous begged to be placed in jail and who, apparently had deliberately become drunk and laid himself down on the city's most prominent corner in an effort to break the law.

Young Elmer Catron, of the county, Tuesday asked the officials to lock him up in jail and they had refused. Tuesday afternoon he obtained some moonshine and after he had become intoxicated, he lay himself down in J. J. Wood's drug store door and was taken up by Officer Stewart.

Wednesday morning, after hearing the case, Judge Curran placed the case on his open docket and warned the boy to leave the city and stay away.

MINSTREL SHOW IS ALL NEW BUT THE FAVORITE SONGS

Springfield Newspaper Says "Lasses" White's Minstrels Is the Best He Has Ever Put on the Road.

The following is from the Springfield, Ohio, Sun reviewing "Lasses" White's Minstrels which will be the attraction at the Washington theater on Friday evening:

"Lasses" White and his all star minstrel got away to a good start Thursday night in their premier performance of the season of 1922-1923 at the Fairbanks theater.

Clean comedy, clever dancing and beautiful singing combined to make the show even better than it was last year and gave evidence that this year's troupe will add still further to the growing laurels of "Lasses" White in the fields of minstrelsy.

"Lasses" himself was the hit of the production, but "Slim" Vermont as Cleo Long run him a close race for the honors and even outshone his boss on one or two occasions. The whole cast was nicely balanced and showed careful training and painstaking effort. Every line in the show was new and the only old thing in the production was the singing which was of that type dear to a minstrel lover's heart, the kind of singing which has given America's most famous minstrel shows their peculiar place in the affections of the theater going public.

The difference between a real minstrel show and a collection of performers merely singing songs is the touch of genius by which a real minstrel casts a spell over its audience and carries it along in the real spirit of minstrelsy from the first raising of the curtain to its dropping on the last scene. "Lasses" White's has that touch and the audience which attended felt its thrill.

It remained for Restivo, player of the piano accordion to grab a lion's share of the individual honors, however. For 15 minutes he and his little instrument held the center of the stage. He had to respond to six encores before his listeners would let him go.

Bobby Burns' soft shoe dancing was fully up to the best standard of the minstrel stage and he had a few tricks of his own.

ALIBI TO BE ATTEMPTED BY FOX AT HEARING

Examining-Trial of Reese Fox To Be Held at Winchester Friday—Will Claim He Was Asleep at Home.

Winchester, Ky., Aug. 22. — When Reese Fox, charged with the murder of Leon Renaker, Winchester's "Turkey King," appears for preliminary hearing Friday morning in the Clark County Court here, his attorneys will attempt to prove that Fox was at home during the hour in which the crime is supposed to have been committed.

Fox's grandmother will be called to the witness stand to testify that the accused man was asleep at the time. Scooby Hardman, recently held to the grand jury on a similar charge, still maintains his innocence. The two men are not permitted to communicate with each other in any way.

The prosecution is proceeding on the theory that Fox and Hardman entered Renaker's home and murdered him by hitting him over the head with a blunt instrument.

At the time of Hardman's trial, Mrs. Nancy Renaker, the murdered man's widow, testified she had been with Hardman alone on several different occasions.

Mr. Lewis Cooper Resident of Ringos Mills, Found Dead in Thicket on His Farm With Deep Wound In the Neck.

Mr. Lewis Cooper, age about 60, well known farmer of the Ringos Mills section of Fleming county, was found in a thicket on his farm Tuesday afternoon with a deep gash cut in his throat and a sharp knife in his hands. He had been dead sometime when found and all indications are that it was a case of suicide.

Coroner Maxey, of Fleming county, was called and held a thorough investigation into the case. He reached the conclusion that Mr. Cooper had taken his own life after hearing evidence that he had been in very bad health for some time and been brooding over his physical condition making complaints to many relatives and neighbors that he had better be dead than to be an invalid.

Mr. Cooper, who was held in the highest esteem by his neighbors, is survived by his aged father and two brothers.

TOBACCO CROP TO BE BUMPER, SAYS REPORT

Government Figures From Tobacco Producing States Show That Crop Will Make Big Increase.

The tobacco crop of the United States for this year, according to the latest available Government statistics, promises to be 349,204,000 pounds heavier than last year's crop, although the final estimates may alter the figures slightly. The month of July apparently was a favorable period for the rapid and healthy growth of the crop in practically every important tobacco producing center.

The estimated production, based upon the condition of the growing crop as of August 1 is 9,881,000 pounds greater than the estimated yield based upon the prevailing condition July 1. The average condition for the entire country August 1, 1922, is 2 per cent better than the ten-year average.

The Kentucky crop of 1922 probably will show an increase over last year of close to 200,000,000 pounds, the gain indicated in the August report reaching the remarkable total of 194,569,000 pounds. Other important producing states, including Virginia, the Carolinas, Ohio, and Tennessee, all show material increases in yield compared with last year's final estimate.

An automobile owned by the Independent Taxi Company, of Portsmouth, Ohio, and occupied by three men and one woman turned completely over and was badly damaged on the Plumville hill about a half mile from the residence of Dr. Winder, a short distance from Maysville Wednesday afternoon.

The occupants were Miss Florence Baker, James Cannon, William Bieverbach and William Alfred, all of Portsmouth. The woman was very badly injured reports from the scene of the accident shortly after it occurred said. She had suffered a broken collar bone and Dr. Winder, to whose home the injured woman had been removed for medical attention, stated that he feared she was more seriously wounded internally although he was not certain about that. The three men escaped with slight scratches and bruises.

The cause of the accident is not exactly known by the occupants and there seems to have been no other eye witnesses to the accident. The machine left the road and turned over plowing the young woman and one of the men. The machine was making a high rate of speed when the driver lost control.

OUR POLICY:

To support such measures as are unquestionably for the good of Mason County as an entire community, rather than such propositions as are in favor of the individual interest, or of one section as against another. And likewise to earnestly and consistently oppose all things that are not for the good of the county as a whole.

WHO IS A DEMOCRAT?

Democrats, no doubt, constitute a species, but numerous and confusing varieties have developed. Mr. Wilson and Mr. Bryan, for example, are as far apart as Eolippus and Man of War. William Randolph Hearst and Mr. Underwood are as remote from each other as a plesiosaur is from a chameleon.

Without commanding leadership in Congress the Democrats have become considerably mixed and diversified, and they no longer react toward public question in the traditional way and with satisfying uniformity.

The Courier-Journal, for instance, in a recent editorial under the somewhat disrespectful caption "Pocket Democrats," has the following to say:

"The nominal Democrats in the Senate who voted for a tariff on hides were about the same bunch who threw their party overboard and voted for extortionate duties on wool and sugar.

"They were Ashurst, Broussard, Fletcher, Jones of New Mexico, Kendrick, Ransdell and Sheppard.

"In fact, this precious brace of pseudo-Democrats are the most consistent performers recently seen by 'clockers' at the Capitol. Their work-outs for the big Protective Tariff Stakes are always reliable. Though they wear Democratic colors, they invariably run as though they are trained and owned by Republicans."

While The Courier-Journal speaks with particular disgust of Broussard and Ransdell as "the Pelican brace," it cannot escape attention that "we are seven"—a perfect number. Ashurst, Broussard, Fletcher, Jones, Kendrick, Ransdell, and Sheppard, all the way from New Mexico and Texas to Arizona, and from Arizona to Louisiana and Florida, are read out of the party and must hereafter flock together in disgrace or change coats entirely and join the Republicans.

This is a pretty kettle of fish. However, it is possible that these seven may have voted the sentiments of their constituencies. In fact, it is hardly probable that they have done anything else. Moreover, they may have honestly felt that they were acting wisely and for the best interests of those whom they represent.

Nevertheless they will have to pack up their duds and get out of the only pure and incorruptible Democracy—or go home, as Mr. Reed did, and be rehabilitated by securing another nomination.

By the way, is Mr. Reed a Democrat?—Lexington Leader.

ESTABLISHING TYRANNY

Where Mr. Gompers and his associates are wrong is that, while inveighing against the tyranny of capital, they strive to establish a tyranny of labor. This is a free country, yet, when a strike is declared, union labor denies to other workers the right to employment on the job vacated by the striker regardless of the fact, as in the cases of the railroad and coal strikes, the food and fuel supplies of the Nation may be shut off, industry halted and millions of persons suffer in purse or, possibly, hunger.

In the matter of wages there has been criticism of the American Federation of Labor itself. A few years ago there was an account printed of employees in the federation headquarters in Washington asking more pay because they were getting less than the ruling scale and, when the increase was refused, organizing a private union of their own and threatening to strike and expose Gompers as "unfair" to honest labor, whereupon Mr. Gompers capitulated.

If those employees had gone out would Mr. Gompers have permitted the office business of the federation to stop for all the time the strikers were out or would he have tried to get other clerks or would he and his associates have done the work themselves? And if he and his associates did anything to keep the office going, wouldn't they be "scabs" just as surely as any one they employed in place of the strikers?

Personally Mr. Gompers is honest. But the arguments he puts forth at times are unworthy of him, such, for instance, as denouncing the Railroad Labor Board—which is composed of three representatives of the public, three of the railroads and three of labor—as impossible to give impartial judgments. As proof he points out that important decisions have been against labor six to three, the representatives of the public and the railroads making the majority. Would he consider it impartial had the decisions been for labor?

The labor problem never will be on the way to solution until it is considered less with passion and prejudice and more with sanity and plain common sense.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

THE PRESIDENT SPEAKS

No exaggeration of fulsome flattery is intended when the assertion is made that President Warren G. Harding recently announced a new charter of human liberty and restated the Declaration of Independence when he laid before the Congress of the United States his views and recommendations concerning the fuel and transportation strikes now afflicting the people.

The time has arrived in this country when the government of the people shall be the law of the land and no decrees issued from secret cameras shall control. The hour has struck for the retirement of the violence-sustained dictators, and the knell is sounding for the punishment of the red-handed assassins and the retirement of the spineless officials who, through cowardice or consent, have failed to perform their sworn duty to protect society.

Never again shall the 110,000,000 American be harassed and vexed, badgered and put in fear through deprivation of the necessities of life and the absolutely essential conveniences of free and uninterrupted communication and transportation if the President has his way. If it is said that there is now law for these things, then Congress must give heed to the courageous, bold and patriotic demand of the President for the strengthening of his hands and the enactment of laws that will restrain insolence and curb greed.

Our Anglo-Saxon ancestors had a proverb which ran: "The bird that can sing and won't sing should be made to sing." Adopting it in paraphrase, it may be said that the motto of today is: "Capital and labor that can work and won't work, should be made to work." The people, and not the labor unions nor yet the associations of railway Presidents and coal mine owners, govern this country!

The President speaks for them!—Chicaguan Enquirer.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

Washington. — "Frequently we find substantial protection arguments in the columns of the free trade press," declares the Republican Publicity Association. "An illustration of this is found in the editorial columns of the Lynchburg, Virginia, 'News,' owned and published by Senator Carter Glass. Under the heading 'Patronizing Home Industries' it is asserted that 'every dollar spent for goods in some other city leaves Lynchburg that much poorer and makes the other city a dollar richer.' The economic studies of Mr. Glass enable him to grasp the soundness of that declaration, but seem not great enough to comprehend the application of the same doctrine to international trade.

"The truth of the statement quoted above is no clearer, however, than the statement which might as readily be made that 'a dollar spent for goods in some other nation leaves American that much poorer and makes the other nation a dollar richer.' The American national policy can also be appropriately applied to the further argument of the Lynchburg 'News' when it says, 'Why people who have the interest of the community at heart will do the sort of thing is one of those strange aberrations of human nature that it hard to reconcile with good citizenship.'

"Republicans have always been unable to reconcile the Democratic free trade policy with good American citizenship. Republicans have been unable to understand how a mon of the educational attainments and business experience of Senator Glass can advocate a tariff policy which encourages American people to buy the products of cheap labor in Europe and Asia to the neglect and sacrifice of American industry. It is indeed, a strange aberration of human nature that causes Democratic leaders to adhere to the theory that it is best to buy where you can buy the cheapest.

"It is a long-recognized economic fact that a dollar spent in trade changes hands some ten times in a year. The man who receives it in trade, whether for labor or for materials, does not keep it idle in his pocket but hands it on to some other producer of materials or to some other workman. The dollar once started in its circuit does ten dollars worth of business in a year. If that dollar be spent in Lynchburg and kept in Lynchburg, it means ten dollars worth of business activity in the period of twelve months.

"In just exactly the same manner, a dollar spent in the United States for the purchase of American products means ten dollars worth of business in the United States in a year; whereas, if that dollar be sent to England, or Germany, or China, or Japan, or to South America, or South Africa, that same dollar will do ten dollars worth of business there, multiplying by ten our business competition.

"It would be well if the business men of Lynchburg would ask Mr. Glass to explain to them how he can reconcile his plea for the patronizing of Lynchburg industries with his tariff theories which encourage American citizens to patronize foreign rather than American industries."

LEGISLATION MUST PASS

"NAT'L CHARACTER" TEST.

Since it is the policy of the General Federation to limit its endorsements of projects and pending legislation that are national in character, and since the Federation has frequently found itself confronted with the question of what constitutes a national project, the board of directors at their last meeting adopted the following: "RESOLVED, That a project of proposed legislation to pass the test of national character shall be one which benefits the people of all states or one which offers federal aid or proposed administration by the federal government."

STUDIO SHOTS.

Barbara La Marr and Lydia Knott have been engaged to play character roles in the Fox production of "St. Elmo," now being made in California with John Gilbert as the star. Warner Baxter is to play the heavy role.

George Scarborough, who has many state successes to his credit, has written a story for Charles Jones, the Fox Star. It is a western, and this is the first time the playwright has turned his hand to virile outdoor stories.

Herbert Brenon is cutting "Moonshine Valley," the new William Farnum picture which is to be an August release. At the same time he is casting for Mary Carr's new picture "Penzie," an adaptation of "The Custard Cup," in which a number of street scenes in New York's East side will be filmed.

Holmer Herbert, who plays the heavy with William Farnum in "Moonshine Valley," came to America in a sailing vessel that took five weeks to cross. Two years later he returned to England in the best suite aboard one of the fast liners. Mr. Herbert comes from a theatrical family that has been identified with the stage for fifty years.

Dawn O'Day, who is playing with William Farnum, is a generous child. Someone asked her if she was going to buy an automobile now that she was making so much money. The young lady promptly replied that she had no such intention; that she intended to purchase a Fifth Avenue bus so that all of her friends could ride with her. Dawn is three years old.

The staccato crack of a gun that echoes from back of the William Fox lot in Los Angeles comes from a rifle in the hands of William Russell. The Fox star is about completing a picture, and intends to take a vacation up in Rocky Mountains on a bear hunt. He will be gone about two weeks.

AMERICAN AND BRITISH GOLF CHAMPIONS TO MEET.

Important golfing events remaining on the schedule for this year are:

The national amateur championship to be played at the Brookline, Mass., Country Club, beginning September 2. The women's national championship to be played at White Sulphur Springs in October.

The best two in three matches in which Walter Hagen, match play champion of American professionals, will meet Abe Mitchell, match play champion of Great Britain.

The best two in three matches in which Walter Hagen, British open golf champion, will meet Gene Sarazen, American open champion, for what will be an informal world's championship.

Officials of the Royal and Ancient of St. Andrews and of the United States Golf Association could not sanction and give official recognition to a world's championship match between Hagen and Sarazen, but golfers everywhere are greatly interested in this contest and it will be played in October, with the first match in Pittsburgh and the second at the Westchester Billmore Country Club, at Rye, New York.

Now that exhibition golf is a fad and provides players everywhere with an opportunity of seeing the champions in action, a yearly match between the winner of the British and American open championships is likely to become one of the regular fixtures of the golfing season.

The British amateur golf team is now in America prepared for the

Can You Do It?

Six-month-old Paul B. Humphreys of Phillipsburg, Pa., started on an athletic career when he was two months old. His daddy trained him. The feat shown here is only one of his stunts. He weighs 18 pounds and has a chest measurement of 18 inches.

championship at Brookline. Roger Wethered and Cyril Tolley, who crossed the water in 1929 to play in the amateur championship at the Engineer's Club, are members of the invited team. American golfers are glad to have the British players here, but eager for an American amateur to retain the title won last year by Jesses Guilford at St. Louis.

The amateur championship at Brookline and the women's championship at White Sulphur will be the last in which the steel shafted golf clubs will be barred according to those close to the United States Golf Association. By the next golfing season the United States Golf Association is expected to change its ruling which prohibits the use of these shafts in championships.

The steel shafts are being so widely used and as such an economy to the game that players everywhere are anxious to have the United States Golf Association recognize them, officially. They are only barred now from the three national championships and next year will undoubtedly see them figured ing in the battles for the American titles.

Officials of the United States Golf Association have been convinced that there is nothing mechanical in the steel shafts and because of the growing scarcity of good hickory and the great economy in steel shafts will remove all obstacles which tend to injure the general use of the clubs. The United States Association is always eager to bring about a reduction in the cost of golf.

PROTESTS CENSUS LISTING HOUSEWIVES "NON-PRODUCTIVE"

The housewives all over the country are protesting against the census which lists them as "non-productive," according to Mrs. Thomas G. Winter, president, in a speech at Chautauque, in which she said: "Is not the plea made to home as good as the one at the bakery? Isn't the dress made by the housekeeper as nice as the one made by the professional dressmaker? Housekeepers save the government many millions of dollars yearly. To prove this I will cite the instance of a busy wife and mother who was asked to do campaign work. She answered that if they would see that her three children were provided with cooked food that their clothing was made, washed and ironed, she would do it. She stated that she had been doing these things herself without outside help. It was agreed, but this necessitated the hiring of a cook, nurse, seamstress and laundress, and cost the party $175.50, for the one month. Her husband's salary was $160 per month. She took great delight in the fact that she was contributing more to the home than Walter was, and at last he knew it! Mr. Stewart, director of the census, has agreed to issue an bulletin of two typical counties, one city and one town, in which the word 'non-productive' in connection with the housewife will be eliminated. In our struggle upward and reaching outward for the worthwhile things in life, may God grant us vision."

BARLEY MAY REPLACE WHEAT ON MANY FARMS.

Lexington, Ky. — Winter barley bids fair to replace wheat on many Kentucky farms during the coming year, according to scores of inquiries being received at the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station. Disappointing returns obtained from wheat during the last few years are held largely responsible for the change while many farmers will switch to barley because of its value as a hog feed when it is ground or soaked. Since barley can be marketed through hogs it also provides an opportunity for increasing the returns from the small grain crop of the farm, according to C. J. Kinney, a member of the station agronomy department.

"Winter barley usually is a highly profitable crop on good land. While not quite as hardy as wheat, it seldom is damaged severely by winter killing if seeded early. It is much more likely to fill out well than wheat while the average yield is much larger. As a nurse crop for clover and grass, winter barley easily is the best grain crop because of its early maturity. The grain ripens about the first of June and thus furnishes the earliest feed crop that can be secured.

"The chief obstacle to the wider production of winter barley in Kentucky is that fact that as a rule it must be seeded before the corn crop can be harvested. As a matter of fact, barley seeding is restricted to tobacco ground or fallow land. It is not safe to seed the crop later than September in the Northern and Central Kentucky and October 1 in Southern Kentucky. When the winters are as mild as those of 1920 and 1921, barley can be sown as late as wheat. The crop is attacked by Hessian fly and in sections where wheat growing is extensive, it is unsafe to plant barley when there are indications that the fly is going to cause trouble. On rich land, six pecks of good seed an acre is sufficient while less fertile lands should be seeded at the rate of two bushels a acre. Preparation of the land is the same as for wheat.

"There is only one extensively grown variety of winter barley, the Tennessee Winter, which is the common barley of Tennessee and Kentucky. It is perhaps the best variety known but in some cases is badly mixed with rye, cheat and other weed seeds. It also is damaged by both kinds of smut. However, many of these foreign seeds can be eliminated by the fanning mill while the formalin treatment will eradicate a good part of the smut."

BEEF HERDS SUFFER AS DROUGHT CUTS PASTURES.

Lexington, Ky. — Hundreds of purebred beef breeding cattle herds in Kentucky are apt to suffer expensive losses in weight during the present drought existing throughout the state unless extra feeds are supplied to supplement the failing pastures in many sections, according to E. S. Good, head of the animal husbandry department of the college of agriculture and a well-known authority on beef cattle. Losses in weight at this time of the year are difficult to regain later in the season. The sleek appearance which is a desirable condition in the breeding herd also is marred when the animals lose weight, he pointed out.

BOOK REVIEW

THE BREAKING POINT.
(Geo. H. Doran, Co., New York.)

To the average buyer of fiction a new planet has appeared in the heaven of literature. Through the telescope of publicity those surfeited with the round of social gaiety will turn with avidity to gaze at this new luminary—we refer to the new novel from the pen of that popular writer Mary Roberts Rinehart. She has selected the title appropriately and you pick up the book and open it immediately and settle down, conscious only of following the maze of characterization, situation and mysticism which each page presents. "The Breaking Point" is a work of psycho-amnesia—a study in that strata of life which just now engrosses the attention of most thinking persons, not scientifically, not Einstein relativity, but in gripping psychic melodrama, with an instinct analytic; warmth and glow, shadow and sunlight, love and hate, cast the colors which absorb and holds the reader until the gamut of full satisfaction has been reached. If you like the beautiful home life of loveable old people, if you care for the thrills of mysterious action, if you are fond of virility, weakness and truth, heart-felt love, then read "The Breaking Point" and trace the unfolding of David, Aunt Lucy, Elizabeth and Dave—the dual man who by virtue of birth and environment had thrust upon him those happenings and events and situations which wrecked his life and brought sorrow and distress to all who loved him! Yet at the last catching reality, after drinking to the dregs, quaffs to the full the reviving wine of love, happiness and success.

national attention because of its varied and distinctive features along both educational and business lines.

The exposition will be a real visualization of all the activities of the "new woman" and it will point out to every girl the sixty and more vocations which are now open to her and show her the need of training for whatever special work she selects.

A gift of $100 has been received from the Tokyo Woman's Club for the purchase of General Federation Headquarters at Washington.

HELPFUL WORDS

From a Maysville Citizen.

Is your back lame and painful? Does it ache especially after exertion? Is there a soreness in the kidney region? These symptoms suggest weak kidneys. If so there is danger in delay. Weak kidneys get weaker fast. Give your trouble prompt attention. Doan's Kidney Pills are for weak kidneys. Your neighbors use and recommend them.

Read this Maysville testimony. Mrs. J. W. Ishmeal 225 East Fifth street, says: I had been a sufferer from kidney trouble for many years. My kidneys were in a weak condition and at times they acted too often. My back ached terribly which broke my rest at night. I had dizzy spells and could see flashes before my eyes and everything turned black before me. A friend told me about using Doan's Kidney Pills with benefit so I sent to Swift's drug store and got two boxes. After using them I got better and have felt like a different woman ever since. I can't recommend Doan's too highly."

"Lasses" White and his minstrel company now in its third season on the road will be the big attraction at the Washington Theater on Friday evening. "Lasses" from the beginning of his career at head of his own company has kept one idea foremost in his mind and that has been to make every possible effort to meet the substantial support that has been given by the minstrel loving public to the "Lasses" White's All Star Minstrels since its inception. For the current season he has written two unusually elaborate novelties—"Way Down South" a big singing and dancing sketch which is a decided departure from the usual minstrel offering and "The Blackville National Guard in Cuba" in which "Lasses" as "Useless" Green will be seen in one of his exuberantly humorous roles.

WOMAN'S COMPLEX LIFE

Woman's complex life with its multitudinous calls is given as the reason for many a nervous breakdown. Home work, social obligations, dressmaking and the care of children keep the 20th century woman in a whirlwind of activity until headaches develop, backache, nervousness and oftentimes more serious ills which are peculiar to her sex alone. Such women should not despair, but be guided by the letters so often published in this paper from women who have been in just such conditions, but who have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

This is a root and herb medicine that contains no drugs and can be taken in safety by any woman.

SOLDIER BONUS BEFORE SENATE.

Washington, Aug. 23. — The long-deferred soldiers' bonus legislation was on the Senate calendar today for a second time, but its immediate future, as well as its ultimate fate, was in doubt. While passage of the bill by the Senate eventually was regarded as a certainty, there was no assurance of action in the immediate future. Negotiations for an agreement fixing a definite date for a vote with an intervening recess of the Senate were continued but without success.

PLANE SMASHED.

Washington, Aug. 23. — Crew of the giant seaplane Sampaio Corea, which collapsed and fell into the ocean between Cuba and Haiti last night while attempting a flight from New York to the Brazilian Exposition at Rio de Janeiro, probably will be landed at Guantanamo, Cuba, today by the steamship Denver.

All members of the crew were picked up by the Denver after the plane made a bad landing and was smashed.

COVER CROPS TO BRING NEW LIFE TO WORN SOIL

Rye Principal Grain Used as "Life-Restorer" — Physical Condition of Ground Improved
By Humus.

New life will be put into worn soils on hundreds of Kentucky farms in the near future through the use of winter cover crops which will be seeded this fall and turned under in the spring for purpose of adding humus to the land, according to R. E. Stephenson, soils extension specialist of the College of Agriculture. Rye will be the principal crop used for this purpose, many farmers having made arrangements to sow the seed as soon as their tobacco, soybeans, cowpeas or corn are harvested. Farmers who turn these cover crops under in the spring for green manure will obtain a number of benefits through the addition of humus which is the greatest single need of badly worn soils, he added.

"Exhausted soils do not contain the bacteria that lime and multiply in the presence of humus and add 'life' to sterile soils," Mr. Stephenson pointed out in explaining how the depleted soil of the state would be benefited by the cover crops that are turned under. These bacteria cause manure and crop residues to decay and give up the elements that contribute toward crop growth. In addition, this process also makes the mineral portions of the soil more available.

"Humus also performs an important service in improving the physical condition of the soil. Soils that are rich in humus are mellow and friable and till easily while the humus also absorbs rainfall and holds it until times of drought. On the other hand, this same material promotes good drainage during the times of surplus rainfall and retards the washing that causes many soils to lose much of their fertility.

"Perhaps the greatest value of humus comes from the plant food it contains. Coming as it does from the partial decay of plant and animal products, it contains the elements such as nitrogen, lime phosphorus and potassium that are necessary before heavy yields can be obtained."

SPORTS

The Cardinals are to be seen in new uniforms in their next engagement here August 31 with Paris as announced by the management Wednesday morning that they had authorized manager Boschen who left for Cincinnati early in the week to purchase new outfits for the entire team. They will make their first appearance in the new suits at Mt. Sterling Thursday and at Winchester Saturday and Sunday followed by a string of four games on the home lot, Thursday, August 31, with Paris, and September 2, 3, and 4 with Lexington when the fans will get a good peek at our pets all dolled up.

The new uniforms are about the same color as the old being gray with black caps and it was a wise move when the management agreed upon the purchase as it was becoming rather risky to even stoop over in the old ones for fear some one would be embarrassed as the Reds got about all the good use out of them before they were bought by the Cardinals.

Class, the Maysville outfielder, who is leading the Blue Grass League sluggers, has one of the best home run records in professional baseball. — Lexington Herald.

COLLINS, IRISH FREE STATE LEADER, WAS ASSASSINATED

Head of Irish Free State Armies Was Killed While on a Trip of Inspection Among his Soldiers—Was Irish "Strong Man."

Dublin, Aug. 23. — Michael Collins, Ireland's hope, is dead.

Collins, fiery leader of the Free State troops, was assassinated from ambush at Bandon, County Cork, while on a tour of inspection of his army yesterday. The auto in which he was riding from Cork to Bandon was fired upon.

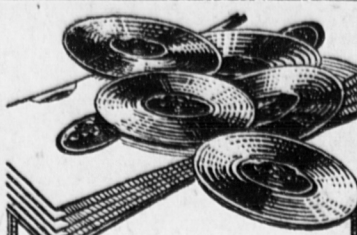

Strict military censorship was set up by the government today. There was a complete lack of details of Collins' death. Other than the bare announcement that the commander-in-chief was shot by irregulars, nothing was given out.

A triumvirate will succeed Collins at the head of the Irish Free State. Deaths of Ireland's two greatest leaders, Arthur Griffith and Collins, within ten days, leave no single outstanding figure.

Liam T. Cosgrave, chairman of the provisional government cabinet, may rise to be Collins' successor or it may be dashing "Dick" Mulcahy, commander-in-chief of the Free State army. George Gavan Duffy, former envoy, is the third outstanding figure.

For the time being, it was learned, these three will head the Free State government. None of them is comparable to Collins, who, especially after the death of Griffith, due to heart trouble August 12, stood out head and shoulders above all Ireland.

Unless the triumvirate succeeds, the Free State may collapse, due to activities of the rebels under Eamon De Valera, which again would bring British forces to Ireland.
